In the war with Mexico, Caliornia was acquired, that, as a proffset to Fior-ia, is free, but in spite of the secenaous op-osition and loud threats of the South. We in ; that is free also. To sum up acquired territory, the South by otes, has organized or will organ-

States. Where is the aggression?

The country commenced its career with an anti-slavery policy; in obedience to the South that was changed. We were warned against territorial acquisitions and wars of aggression and conquest; to mollify the South all our acquisitions have been made, and in the service of the South the Mexican war was begun and carried on. We had a a fugitive slave law that was at least decent in its provisions; that has been supplanted to approximate the first provisions; that has been supplanted to about 15,000,000 miles. A year ago he undertook the job of revilling the Declaration of Independence with the hope of getting Mr. Lincoln to take the affirmative of the question and thereby assume the odium, if Donglas could fix it upon him, of endeavoring to bring about the social and political equality of the white and black races in Illinois. Mr. Lincoln did take the affirmative, and did defend the grand utterance of the fathers that all men are created equal, and that they are inalienably endowed with the rights of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. Since then all the energies of Donglas, his friends, his press, his army of toadies, have been directed to transferring the odor of Amalgamation and all sorts of Africanism from his own garments to those of his antagonist. The happy logical sequence that because a white man does not want a black woman for a slave or a mistress, his objections can only rise from a des. re to marry her, has been drummed in the unwilling ears of the people till a vigorous reaction has surving from sheer public disgust. No better vidence of this is needed than the sudden and surprising change of tune on the part of he Doughas organ-grinders. "The Democracy preach to you "popular sovereigning of the propular sovereigning." I believe in "popular sovereigning." It is a good thing, and a right thing. It signifies that the people ought to rule—and they do rale when they have a chance. But human rights underlie "popular sovereignty." Every man teels that he ought to be a freeman; that he is entitled "to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness." Man holds this right from God. Community holds its right from God from the interference of the common fuely of the propular sovereignts. It connot justly be taken from one man and transferrei to another. And it is for this reason that I condemn the institution of Siavery. It ought not to exist any where by popular consent. But we are misrepresented by the Democracy, as entertaining designs of interfering with vested rights. I wish now to state, and if there be a Southern man in this assemblage, I wish blim to note that we prach no such doctrine. We mean

The Commercial says the political canvass of Hamilton county, now in progress, is one of the most exciting ever known. The city is illumi-nated with torohes and bonfires, and resonant with camon, brass bands, many drums, and the and were greatly and agreeably surprised at the appearance of the city. From the doleful accounts given a few months ago of the ravages of the floods, we expected to find the city still in great confusion and disorder. With the ex-ception of here and there a trace of its ravages, one could hardly now appreciate the fact that a "wide waste of waters" had recently covered shouting of multitudes, every night. A perfect carnival reigns. We have never known more warmth of enthusiasm, nor a greater degree of confidence in success, than is now manifested or

The increase in the brightness of this comet is so nearly in conformity with theory that there is a high probability of it being visible with telescopes in full sunshine about the space of maximum brilliancy in October.

In Mr. Hind's opinion this comet will not visit these parts of space again for a few hundred years. It would appear that the tail of the comet now visible is not as long as that of previous ones. Two years ago it required a good degree of moral courage for a Republican to avow his principles; now we find men everywhere ready and willing to defend the cause, and right manfully do they battle for honest Abe Lincoln. The conviction is general among friends and foces that Douglasis aborn of his strength. For him the Jonesboro debate was a complete failure, and the people so regard it. The Buchanan men are making a fearful diversion from his ranks, and the Republicans are daily increasing in numbers, and of course are in the best of spirits. Not only at Jonesboro, but at Cairo, and other Southern points, Douglas' meetings and speeches are regarded as "flat and unprofitable." But we must be more particular of the usual size, yet 13 feet in length. Taking of the usual size, yet 13 feet in length. Where was Mr. Douglas in 1845 on the resolution to allow Texas to carve out of her limits four additional slave States, solemnly stipulating that they might all be admitted into this Union with slavery? He was voting with the South. Where was Mr. Douglas in 1845, on the bill to organize the Territary of Oregon—although that bill contained the ordinance of 1757, providing that neither slavery nor involuntary servitude should ever exist in that Territory except in punishment for crime? We find him trying to kill off the Wilmot Proviso, in advance by introducing an amendment extending the Missouri Compromise line to the Facific.

Where was he in the same year on the Wilmot Proviso? He was voting with the South. Where was he in 1850 on the Fugitive Slave bill? He was voting with the South.

Where was this "angler in the lake of darkness" in 1864? He was viting for the South—indulging in the vain and delusive bope of getting the vote of the South for the Presidency in 1856. We find him inventing "Popular Sovereignty."

Mr. Donglas not only originated the Kansas bill, but he repealed the Missouri Compromise line—that compromise, which he a few years before publicly declared was "a sacred thing," "Arening an origin akin to the Constitution starf," "and morigin akin to the Constitution starf," "and morigin akin to the Constitution starf," "supercating the Divine vengance on the runh" less hand that should attempt do disturb or "repeal it." BRAIGHMENT OF SENATOR DOUGLAS. Van H. Higgins, Esq., candidate for the Leg-day evening, from which we print a few extracts. After defining his position on local ques tions, Mr. Higgins said:

In my opinion our present Senstor, Judge Douglas, has constantly, persistently und uniformly, in Congress and out of Congress, on all occasions, used his official influence and his private influence to promote and extend slavery and the Slave Power. Whatever he may say in Illinois or pretend to the contrary, all his acts public and private, demonstrate beyond a question that he favors the slave interest, and always acts and votes with it and for it except when restricted by the wholesome influence produced by the fear of losing his place. Can any of his friends tell where, when, in what instance or on what occasion he sver voted with the free slways acts and votes with it and for it exceptions that restricted by the wholesome influence produced by the fear of losing his place. Can any of his friends tell where, when, in what instance or on what occasion he seer voted with the free States against the interests of the slave States, except the single instance last winter, when, as it turns out on proof, he did thecause on a consultation with his friends he feared he would lose his place if he did not.

The influence conduct of Judge Douglas in repealing the Missouri Compromise and opening the way for the Dred Scott decision, and finally indorsing it, together with the "new-fangled" doctrine that the Constitution carries sl-very along with it; his conspiracy to force slavery along with it; his conspiracy to force slavery into Kansas against the known will and wishes of her people; the coarse, unfeeling and bitter manner in which he abused the free State men of Kansas, villifying and maligning, not only the people of that territory, but everybody who sympathized with them, studying how he might insult the freemen of the North and of the State which he repre ented—these things have not been forgotten by us, and some of those insults will not soon be blotted from our memores. When the Kansas Norsak act was passed, we were told by Mr. Douglas that there was no expectation or desire to make Kansas a slave State—that the climate and soil would forever preclude the attempt to make it a slave State; that it was a great principle of self government to leave these questions to the people of the territories to determine for themselves; that there never would be an altempt to take alavery into order the Kansas bill, and when bogus laws were passed under the Kansas hill, providing that no man should speak or write or print against slavery, and when murder and bloodshed grew out of this as it must do, then we were told that the "Abolitioni ts were creating disturbances;" that they were "provoking marder and rapine and robbert, to make provoking marder and rapine and "seed." It seems, then, that Judge Douglas became concerned about his political salvation, and began to enquire of his lilinois Lecompton brethren "what he should do to be saved." That a council was held by the political doctors, and it was determined that his only chance of salvation was in taking some Republican medicine; and it was thought as Kansas and Lecompton had so nearly killed him, that a dose of Anti-Lecompton would be more effectual to save him. (The doctrines believed in the Allopathic treatment.) The Senator swallowed the bitter dose. At first, faint bopes were entertained of his recovery; but it was found, as he ingered along, that Lecompton had been too deeply seated; that there was not enough of him left for the medicine to act upon, and although his doctors did not wholly give him up, the country did.

Democrats.
Senator Trumbull was followed by Hon. Wm. Kellogg. Judge Kellogg was welcomed, as he stepped forward, with three hearty cheers, and occupied about an hour in an able and eloquent address.

After Judge Kellogg, Hon. Thos. J. Henderson, of Stark, was called out, and made a brief lerson, of Stark, was called out, and made a black but telling speech.

Before the meeting broke up notice was given that addresses would be given at Cutter's Hall it. hundress of waving flags and banners and device with appropriate meeriptions; the inspliting music of the several bands, the immense processions, the decorated wagons of ladies representing the States, and dressed in uniform; the cavalcade or ladies and gentlemen, numbering over one hund-red,—all these and other demonstrations were in dices of an enthusiasm and a determination on the part of the people which will just as surely result in a glorious victory as we live to see the ides of November.

Quarrel about a Cocked Hat.

[From the Louisville Journal.]

Whilst one of the largest fieets which the United States eyer dispatched on a hostile purpose is fitting out in our ports for service against Paraguay, the President of this secondary republic has got himself into trouble with Great Rittain, or rather with the British Minister, because he persisted in warring a cocked hat in the presence of that very fastificious functionary. According to the account given, Mr. Christle, the British Minister, waited upon President Lopes to present his cryecutials. At his first visit he frond Lopez dressed in a preposterous seotume, half military, half diplomatic, and some parts of it so grossly exaggerated as to make it extremely ridiculous. As a part of his uniform, Lopez wora an immense cocked hat all friuged with warn and down, and bedispened with gold lace; and this ornament he persisted in keeping upon his head during the whole interview, at which discountesy Mr. Christic took serious unibrace, as he is most unyielding in matters of eil-quetter.

Brom the Geveland Plain Dealer.]

Mr. Lloyd, a highly respectable farmer of Wickliffe, arrived in this city last evening in an excited state of mind. He sought out Marshal Gallagher and told him that his two daughters had eloped Monday night with two hired men, brothers, and named respectively Chauncey Lewis and Watson Lewis. Mr. Lloyd thought they were in this city. The Marshal put on his seven-league boots and commenced walking rapidly round the city. He found the enterprising parties at the Franklin House, on Pearl street. Watson had aiready married one of the sisters and retired for the night. Chauncey Lewis was making arrangements to marry the other sister wand retired for the night. Chauncey Lewis was making arrangements to marry the other sister wand retired for the night. Chauncey Lewis was making arrangements to marry the other sister when the Marshal appeared and took him and his intended to the police station. Locking Chauncey Lewis up in the Watch House, Mr. Lloyd took his daughter to the Commercial House and locked her up in a room.

Mr. Lloyd, in addition to being an extensive and flourishing tarmer, keeps a tavern in Wickliffe, which is very favorably known throughout him section. It is located near the Lakeshore, and near where the ill-fated steamer Griffith was burned a few year since. Mr. Lowns some four hundred and filly acres of land in Wickliffe, and is quite wealthy. His daughters are named Mary and Leura. Mary is about twouly years old and Laura about sixten. They are spisaded looking girls and are fashionably and richly dreased. They are both well educated, having enjoyed superior advantages in this respect.

The Lewis brothers are unboatch, uneducated.

c sted, having enjoyed superior advantages in this respect.

The Lewis brothers are uncounth, unednested and overgrown specimens of humanity, and can aesther read nor write. They hired out to Mr. Lloyd some six months ago. He paid Watson, the oldest one, $15 and thanneey $10 a month. Channeey Lewis, the young man who didn't get married and who passed the night in the Watch House, is a very sleepy and suppid appearing young man. We doubt if he knows enough to exercise the sagacity of a common Shanghai chicken and go under cover when it rains. He was released this morning at the suggestion of Mr. Lloyd and requested to "seco.," which he hastily did. He promised, with tears in his eyes, never to come within ten miles of Wakhiffe again. The married brother suggestion of Mr. Llovd and requested to "soc." which he hastily did. He promised, or which he hastily did. He promised, the series of course within ten miles of Wachliffe again. The married brother of course cannot be inter ered with.

The parties eloyed at about 11. O'cleck on Menday night, and were not missed until yesterday morning. The brothers hired a horse and beggy at Willoughby, and went to Mr. Lloyd's house, where the girls were awaiting them, with their trants all packed. The girls left the house noiselessly and got into the buggy, and the parties moved alowly toward Claveland. One of the brothers walked all the way here (about states miles) and the other rode and drove. Arriving here, they stopped at the Commercial House. In the evening a Justice was called in, and Watson and Mary were married. Chauncy and Laura concluded to postpone being united until this morning, which conclusies fortunately enabled Mr. Lloyd to prevent the ceremony. The parties all moved from the Commercial to the Franklin, where they were found as above stated.

This is the most remarkable case of elopement that we ever heard of. It utterly edipses the Boker and Dean case. What two handsome and cultivated girls, as the Misses Lloyd certainly were, could flad to admire in two such fellows as the Lewis brothers, is more than we can imagine. Mr. Lloyd and his wife were overwhelmed with grief by this inexplicable conduct of their daughters.

Morphy makes a Sensation in Paris.

The great chess match between Germany and America, between M. Harwitz, of Prussia, and Mr. Paul Morphy, of the United States, is now presses the fear that he will have again to return to the fire treatment. He adds:

It is with a pang unspeakable that I find myself thus arrested in the labors of life and in the duties of my position. This is harder to bear than the fire. I do not hear of friends engaged in active service—like Trumbul in Illinois—without a feeling of envy.

— Mrs. Dudley threatens to revoke the gift of the control to the Public Chargestory, pulses the Mr. Paul Morphy, of the United States, is now going on in Paris at the Cafe de is Regence, in the Rue St. Honore, the headquarters of the lovers of this scientific game. The match is to be won by the gainer of the first seven games. Harwitz gained the first two games, and Mr. Morphy gained the three next, the last of which was placed on the Charges and Archiver. Harwitz gained the inrat two games, and ariMorphy gained the three next, the last of which was played on the afternoon and evening prior to the last date from Paris. In the third and fourth games, Mr. Morphy made some of the most brilliant and startling moves that had ever been made in the Cafe de la Regence, and ao great was the enthainam that telegraphic dispatches were sent to the Rhine, to Mery, to the Duke of Brunswick, and other great players, begging them to come and see the wonder of the world. Notwithstanding the watering season—says a Parisian writer—when all the fashton at least is supposed to be out of town, the Cabe de la Regence is the some of a crowd, or rather a mob of distinguis sed men, and even women, of all nationalities and all tongues. It is believed that Morphy will beat Harwitz, though it is not by any means certain, and in that case he becomes the champion of the world, for no man in Europe can beat Harwitz. Harwitz is 27 years old, and Morphy in his 22d year.
Morphy plays much faster than Harwitz, and, in fact, faster than any adversary he has yet met in Europe, and the boldness and originality of his moves strike the lookers on with amazement and admiration.

A gentleman now in Paris writes as follows:

ment and admiration.

A gentleman now in Paris writes as follows:
The grastiest of living French sculptors, Lequesse, the pupil and successor of Pradier, Las invited Morphy to sit to him for his bust in marble. Morphy gave him the first sitting yesterday. The bust will be exhibited at the Exhibition des Beaux Aris. This is, I think, the highest honor Morphy has as yet resorbed. But I can assure you they treat him here like a god. He dines with his Royal Highness the Duke of Branswick on Sunday. The other night, as the Theatre Frangais, half the audience stood up and looked at him—he perfectly unconscious untit it was pointed out to him. Everybody seeks introduction to him, and the old players of the time of Labourdonnais treat him with the greatest reverence.
